IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.

A Word to Republicans.

The hope of the party lies in the expansion of a state-right Republican press. The Republicans are ready to help us to support a Democratic paper to the exclusion of one of his own party newspapers in our state to the Republicans cause.

Unanimously subscribed to by the National Republican League.

J. S. CLARKSON, President

A. B. HUMPHREY, Secretary

WHEN, after the first outbreak at Homestead, the Democrats declared that the political effect would be to aid tremendously the cause of the Democrats and the election of Mr. CLEVELAND, by showing the hardships and oppressions of American workmen under the Republican policy of Protection, and especially the workings and influences of the McKinley act, it was remarked that it was likely the final outcome in such a direction would be in favor of the policy, and greatly to the embarrassment of such Democratic politicians as attempted to make political capital out of the occurrence.

It was believed that an investigation would result in a public statement of the amount of money paid in wages to the workmen of America under the Protective system. This result has come about, and the people are considering with amazement the rate of wages the thousands of Carnegie workmen were in receipt of, and what were the incomes of the men of the Homestead works when they resolved to strike. Some of the Democrats who urged with such tumultuous haste the appointment and sending out of the investigating committee with a view to gathering in some cheap political capital from a bloody and awful calamity, are now wishing they had gone a-fishing instead.

It was shown that under the infamous system of Protection the workmen at Homestead were getting from $600, the minimum, to $5,000 and over, per week, more in wages than any of the sympathetic Congressmen were receiving from the Government for their invaluable services.

The heart of Mr. BOATNER of Louisiana was especially surcharged with sympathy for these suffering victims of a nefarious Republican industrial system. But after Mr. BOATNER had drawn from one of the victims the fact that at the time the strike was determined upon he was getting in wages $10 a day, he became silent and ruminative.

Under the head of "Mr. BOATNER's Astonishment" The Washington Post, an independent newspaper, thus touches up Mr. BOATNER and the fact of a matter the Democrats now wish they had not thrown themselves at with so much suddenness and penetration.

"One can readily sympathize in Representative BOATNER's astonishment when he comes to examine the payroll of the Homestead works. He had no doubt seen the tragic wood cuts imposed upon a credulous public by such blatherskite newspapers as The New York World and St. Louis Republic. Those harrowing representations of hollow-cheeked women and emaciated children kneeling before the callous Franks, and begging him for bread, must have worked on Mr. BOATNER's feelings powerfully. No wonder, therefore, that when he got to Homestead and collided with the real facts in the case he was both enlightened and amazed. He found the world's down-trodden and oppressed operatives living in comfortable, even luxurious homes, wearing the best of clothing and exhibiting every symptom of prosperity. He found that the smallest compensation paid to any man in the works, and that to very few, was $1 a day, the average pay at $3 a day, the maximum (received by hundreds of men) as high as $16 a day.

"What do Government employees here in Washington think of men refusing to work for $1,000, $2,000, $3,000 and $5,000 per annum? Thousands of clerks and laborers in the country's pay are contented and comfortable upon two-thirds of the town out of existence, is now lying at Woodland street stores, Brooklyn. She is the steamship Mirandan, commanded by Capt. H. E. Leseman, who got into St. Johns during the fire and was evidently impressed with the sight.

"Talk about a big fire," said Capt. Leseman. "I'm spinning you no sea yarn when I tell you that at 12 miles away from here, the fire was 100 feet high and doors of the pilot house had to be closed tight on account of the dense smoke the strong northwest wind blowing off shore brought down. We felt the heat fully sixty miles away, and out where the anchorage is, the last part of the town looked like one huge glowing coal. The cargo of 150 tons of fish which we ought to have taken on board was burned, and we had to load at Halifax."

"What about the state of the St. Johns?"

"Well, there are over 15,000 of them homeless and homeless, not one hundred of them who would dare to bet they had a change of clothing. In fact, clothing is what they are chiefly in need of, and now, however, together like sheep, aimlessly about and bunched together, the mortality would be dreadful. Food and timber for rebuilding are, of course, requisite, and I wish to state that provisions of any kind, or cast-off and second hand clothing, if sent to England and Archibald, is Broadway, will be carried, freightage free, by the Mirandan, which sails Thursday next to St. Johns."

And now how about Mr. HUGH O'DONNELL himself, and his destitute condition that led him to rebel. He is the puissant and acknowledged leader at Homestead of the strikers. What is Mr. O'DONNELL's grievance? He himself told the Congressional Committee on Wednesday. He testified that his wages averaged $144 per month, eight hours work a day, under the old scale, and that the proposed new scale did not affect them. That is O'DONNELL as a worker in the Homestead mill earned, says The Philadelphia Press, about $1,800 a year—more than nine-tenths of all the employees in the state earn; more than nine-tenths of all the teachers; twice as much as most of the farmers; six times as much as most of the ordinary farm laborers. Yet even O'DONNELL was not one of the best-paid at Homestead. The testimony showed that within the scale the workers earned $250 to $280 a month—that is $3,000 to $3,600 a year. But O'DONNELL was not starved. He was paid $1,800 a year, and the scale he refused did not eat him down.

Everybody not a demagogue acknowledges from the first that the Tariff laws had nothing whatever to do with the troubles at the Carnegie mills. This statement should, however, be modified by the fact that but for Protection and the Tariff laws there would be no enormous industrial plant at Homestead, with thousands of workers paid such wages. From this view of the case the Tariff laws can justly be held accountable for the trouble.

The report of the Congressional Committee sent to "investigate" the "starvation wages" paid at Homestead is one of the things that is now anxiously looked for. It will make a splendid Republican campaign document.

The Chicago News-Record is authority for the information that WILLIAM A. PINKERTON is a Democrat and that 90 per cent of his men are Democrats, too. Workingmen inclined to blame Protection for the Homestead troubles should make a note of this.

Since the new Tariff became a law, coffee has declined in price 24.3 per cent, and sugar 35.8 per cent. Dun's Commercial Agency reports the average fall in the necessities of life at 18 per cent. Dun's report would have been a good thing to incorporate into the Republican platform.

Political Points.

Well, Why Shouldn't He Be?

Globe-Democrat.—The assertion created that he is "satisfied with the outlook" would seem to indicate that he is pleased that Harrison is going to be re-elected.

Hoisting the Danger Signal.

Now York Sun.—When the principle of Free-trade becomes identified with anarchy and the destruction of the right of property, as its leading advocates among us are frantically trying to identify it, all thought of its continuing to receive serious consideration will have to be abandoned for many years to follow. This country is not ready for such a combination yet. Down with anarchy! Let law and order reign.

ST. JOHN'S FIRE.

Description of It By Eye-Witnesses Now in New York.

An Epidemic May Follow the Great Conflagration.

The Burning City Looked Like a Sea Glowing Coal From a Ship at Sea 120 Miles Distant—15,000 Homes and Homeless People.

New York, July 18.—The first vessel which has arrived at this port from St. John's, N. F., since the fire which swept two-thirds of the town out of existence, is now lying at Woodland street stores, Brooklyn. She is the steamship Mirandan, commanded by Capt. H. E. Leseman, who got into St. John's during the fire and was evidently impressed with the sight.

"Talk about a big fire," said Capt. Leseman. "I'm spinning you no sea yarn when I tell you that at 12 miles away, from here, the fire was 100 feet high and doors of the pilot house had to be closed tight on account of the dense smoke the strong northwest wind blowing off shore brought down. "Well, there are over 15,000 of them homeless and homeless, not one hundred of them who would dare to bet they had a change of clothing. In fact, clothing is what they are chiefly in need of, and now, however, together like sheep, aimlessly about and bunched together, the mortality would be dreadful. And now how about Mr. HUGH O'DONNELL himself, and his destitute condition that led him to rebel. He is the puissant and acknowledged leader at Homestead of the strikers. What is Mr. O'DONNELL's grievance? He himself told the Congressional Committee on Wednesday. He testified that his wages averaged $144 per month, eight hours work a day, under the old scale, and that the proposed new scale did not affect them. That is O'DONNELL as a worker in the Homestead mill earned, says The Philadelphia Press, about $1,800 a year—more than nine-tenths of all the employees in the state earn; more than nine-tenths of all the teachers; twice as much as most of the farmers; six times as much as most of the ordinary farm laborers. Yet even O'DONNELL was not one of the best-paid at Homestead. The testimony showed that within the scale the workers earned $250 to $280 a month—that is $3,000 to $3,600 a year. But O'DONNELL was not starved. He was paid $1,800 a year, and the scale he refused did not eat him down.

Everybody not a demagogue acknowledges from the first that the Tariff laws had nothing whatever to do with the troubles at the Carnegie mills. This statement should, however, be modified by the fact that but for Protection and the Tariff laws there would be no enormous industrial plant at Homestead, with thousands of workers paid such wages. From this view of the case the Tariff laws can justly be held accountable for the trouble.

The report of the Congressional Committee sent to "investigate" the "starvation wages" paid at Homestead is one of the things that is now anxiously looked for. It will make a splendid Republican campaign document.

KICKS AND CLUBS

Nearly End the Life of a Negro Murderer in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 19.—Andrew Jeffers, a Negro ex-convict, killed a white man named William Adams. Adams was talking to a woman named Lizzie, and Andrew, who Jeffers is said to be jealous of, shot him.

After killing Jeffers fled, but was pursued and captured by an enraged mob, who, after nearly killing him with kicks and clubs, were about to complete their work by lynching him, when he interposed a several hundred citizens who finally prevailed upon the mob to let the law take its course, and the black brute was led away to jail, followed by a howling mob of angry people, who constantly pounced him with rock and other missiles at hand.

Broken Soldiers.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 19.—David Lester, of Company A, Fourteenth regiment, N. G. P., stabbed Frank Calhoun at Grant street, near Fifth avenue at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning. The affray was the result of a night's quarrel between Lester and Hough, who indulged in Sunday night. They were along Grant street insulting every person they met, brandishing their bayonets in a狂暴的 manner.

After the affray.

BOSTON, July 19.—The Central Labor Union, to meet up the morning after investigating the Homestead disaster to widen the scope of its inquiries by demanding the books and other memoranda of the Pinkerton secret service and its alien agents, claimed that the secretaries of the various labor organizations in the city had been informed that the strike was to be broken up.

The strike was to be broken up.

At 11 o'clock this programme was interrupted in the fact that the wheelmen of the city took the capital of the country.

Washington, July 19.—The wheelmen of the country took the capital of the country.

Arrived with the past forty-eight hours to assist in giving the eight to the national meeting of the League of American Wheelmen. Among them were all the crack wheelmen of the country. National headquarters were established Sunday at the Ebbitt house, as well as at the Capital city house, and both places of assembly were wide open and abundant hospitalities are tendered to every visitor.

The festivities of the gathering were inaugurated Monday morning at 9 o'clock, with several national wheelmen in attendance.

And under the escort of the committee on entertainment in procession and visited in turn each of the government departments and the other public buildings and the capital.

At 11 o'clock this programme was interrupted in the fact that the wheelmen of the city took the capital of the country.

At 11 o'clock the regular annual convention of the league was opened in the hotel of the national headquarters.

The business of the day was on the order of the day, and the business of importance, however, was on the docket, and the meeting was simply held in compliance with the arbitrary rules.

Late Monday afternoon there was a run to Fort Myers, Va., and Monday evening the meeting was well attended.

Jerry Simpson is president, were serenaded by the local cyclists. Tuesday afternoon the four big champion events will be contested, and they will in addition be open road, in which the best drivers in the city will be contestants.

There is so much rivalry this year between the racing men that very fast time is likely to be made.

Electric Railway Deal.

Not a Wheel Turns in the Works at Home—Firemen and Watchmen Report for Duty But No Strikers.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 19.—At 6 o'clock Monday morning the watchmen threw open the main gate in the two miles of fence that surrounds the great mills of the Carnegie Co. and the operators of the mills were permitted to go to the mills to see if the men in the mechanical departments were beginning to arrive. The shadowy form of a soldier on guard was the only sign of life visible, and the faithful watchmen with difficulty to the office porch. He was sent to the office to see if the 500 or 600 mechanics who were notified to report for duty Monday morning to begin repairs preliminary to the starting of the mills.

One man arrived, and was admitted with difficulty. There was another and another until noon, when it had passed within the gates. They were not the mechanics that had been summoned. They were not former employees returning to make individual applications for their old positions. They were the watchmen and foremen who have remained loyal to the company, and had not given up duty since the mills have shut down.

And thus did the week open. Not one of the skilled mechanics reported at the office, and the watchmen and foremen of the Homestead Paper, with difficulty, commenced at the usual time Monday.

These mechanics are not only experts in their several lines, but they are familiar with every machine and every furnace in the Carnegie works.

One man arrived, and was admitted with difficulty, as the appliances at the Carnegie mills are in advance of those of any other steel works in this country, even if men capable of doing the work are found it will be no easy matter to induce them to work under guard.

There is no work for the men to do, for the rumor that men are coming from England to work in the Homestead steel works, that is the operators here believe that there is, and are indulging in considerable speculation over the matter. They cannot understand how men could be induced to work under guard.

There is no work for the men to do, for the rumor that men are coming from England to work in the Homestead steel works, that is the operators here believe that there is, and are indulging in considerable speculation over the matter. They cannot understand how men could be induced to work under guard.

This story has received so much currency that the Homestead people are generally discussing what legal steps should be taken with the English men arrived. I spoke to a foreman and he replied that the men were plenty of men could be secured in the United States, so that no necessity exists for going out of the country. This foreman said that part of the work would assuredly be done by the men who were to come to work.

Some sheds, however, not much better than cow pens, were put up by the government against the high fence around the colonial building, under which the men were to sleep, and the men who are sick sleep there, the freight and exposure, huddled together like so many cattle. Many people, who constantly went to the sheds, were shocked to see the men, bedaubed with mud and water, and the black brute was led away to jail, followed by a howling mob of angry people, who constantly pounced him with rock and other missiles at hand.

M'LUCKIE,

The Mayor of Homestead, Locked Up in a Cell,

Where He Will Remain Under the Charge of Murder.

Warrants Out for Hugh O'Donnell and Others, Who Are Charged With the Same Offense—Frick, Lovejoy and Potter to Be Proceeded Against.

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—John McLuckie, Burgess, or chief municipal officer of Homestead, slept Monday night on a cot in one of the cells of the county jail.

The Carnegie Co. prayed that warrants might be issued and that the men to be named might be arrested and held on the charge of murder. When the warrant had been drawn up Alderman McLuckie said he would be compelled to give two more informations, one relating to the killing of Connors and the other to that of Wayne, and a second paper was accordingly made out. Secretary Lovejoy, then named as the man accused, H. O'Donnell, John McLuckie, Samuel Frick, Lovejoy, Anthony Flaherty, Samuel Burke, James Flanagan and Hugh Ross.

No time was lost by Magistrate McMasters in making out the fourteen warrants, and shortly before 2 o'clock they were entrusted to Constables Joseph Weber, W. J. Morris and Mike J. Price, who at once left for Homestead.

On their arrival they made known their business to Gen. Snowden, who referred them to Col. Green, in command of the guard provost.

The men were then joined by a party of soldiers to accompany the constables, and the latter visited the houses of all the men wanted, but without result. Not one of them was at home, and most of the residences were locked in. In one of the houses, an office, however, in this city at toward dusk they were surprised to find that Burgess McLuckie had got out of town while they were searching for him and had already surrendered himself to the authorities. He was in company with Attorney Bronger of the Amalgamated association, and several friends. The warrant was formally served on him, and to the magistrate he said that he had already sent word to the other men who were wanted to come into town in the morning and surrender.

"Yes," put in one of those present, "and once the warrants issued we will have Carnegie extradited in short order." Alderman McMcasters waited until the evening to offer his services, and when none of the other accused men appeared in an appearance, he committed the Burgess to the county jail without bail, pending a preliminary examination on Friday.

A man was at once started that counter informations are to be made against H. C. Frick, Secretary Lovejoy and Manager Potter, and the general impression is that this is only the beginning of the legal struggle at Homestead. There was considerable confusion in the minds of the public, and defendant would have to remain in jail or not until the grand jury sits in September. An attorney said the court could release them on bail, the amount of which would be determined by the evidence as to the character of the offense and the conduct of the defendants. In case Messrs. Frick, Lovejoy and Potter are arrested they would be compelled to go to jail or be released in the same way. Alderman McMcasters said Monday night that he expected no informations to be made against the men.

Members of the advisory committee said late Monday night that the warrants to be applied for against Frick, Carnegie and Potter will charge "murder and treason."

Conn Gets It.

OMAHA, Neb.—July 19.—G. Adal E. Stevenson, with ex-District Attorney W. C. Ewing, of Chicago, arrived here Monday forenoon. They were met by Mr. Cleveland and driven to Gray Glasses.

Charles Reinforced by Troops.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 19.—The prison at Zocalito, was struck by lightning. Three persons serving life sentences, were killed, while others were made incapable. Five of that number have since died.

POPULATION OF HOMESTEAD.

Over Half of it is of Foreign Birth or Descent.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The Philadelphia Times stated editorially that seventy-five per cent of the strikers at Homestead were foreigners, many not naturalized, and that they were the general opinion. But the latest figures of the census shows that the total population of Homestead is 7,911. Of this number 5,431 are native born persons and 2,499 are persons of foreign birth. These figures include all ages, both white and colored. Of the native born persons 5,288 are native white.

The figures of the census office show that this native white population is made up of those who are of native parentage to the number of 2,836, and those who are of foreign parentage to the number of 2,499. By the same token, the native white persons of foreign parentage to the number of foreign born, in arriving at the number of persons of foreign extraction, there is a total of 4,948; that is, something more than half of the total population of Homestead is of foreign parentage, while less than one-third of the place are of foreign birth. The total number of foreign born males eighteen years of age and over is 1,347, while the total number of native born males eighteen years of age and over is 1,372.

THE BUILDING WRECKED

By the Explosion of a Boiler.—The Engineer Killed and Six Others Wounded.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, July 19.—Monday morning one of the boilers in the extensive sewer pipe works of N. U. Walker & Co., at Walker's Station, a division of this city, exploded, with terrific force, killing an engineer, and six employees who had gone to work. The building in which the boilers were located was almost demolished, and nearly a score of workmen more or less injured. James Monney, the engineer, was instantly killed, and six others severely injured. John Hammond, struck by debris, badly cut about the head and shoulders; James Daniels, scalped about the face, hands and arms; William Gould, scalped on the face, hands and arms; William Costello, struck by the timber, severely injured.

The following is the list of those injured: Lester H. Gale and W. E. Turner, sobering teller and book-keeper of the City Savings bank of Nashville, Tenn., who stole $30,000, have been captured in Mexico, and will be extradited.

McGraw, a recently elected member of parliament from the middle division of Tipperary, Ireland, 3,248 votes against 507 for Conway, Parnell, and 347 for Armstrong, unionist.

Fire broke out in the Cleveland stock yards about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, spreading with great rapidity, and they were destroyed. Two hundred head of hogs perished. Total loss $45,000.

Geo. P. Williams, the messenger who was in charge of the Pacific Express Co. car that was robbed at Adair, I. T., on July 12, Dalton gang, has been suspended pending examination by the company.

Senator Morgan introduced in the senate the bill introduced in the house some time since, granting to C. C. Moreno and his associates the right to lay telegraph cables in the Pacific ocean, between the American and Asiatic coasts.

Reverend Real, of the Maverick bank, Boston, Monday received the papers from Acting Controller of the Currency Nixon ordering an assessment of $100,000 on the stockholders of the bank. The assessment is for the full limit allowed by the law.

GRAY GAMBLER, BIZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 19.

RALPH E. HOYT, Esq.—My Dear Sir: Your letter of July 12 is at hand. I am exceedingly gratified by your kind words in support the principles and candidates of the Chicago convention. I think no where among the delegations is there a more decided stand on the position the delegatory party has assumed on that subject, and I am sure none need fear that the Chicago convention will not stand by the cause which have already proved to be so acceptable to a great majority of the people.

Yours very truly,

RALPH E. HOYT, Idaho Strikers Rout.

BURKE, Idaho, July 19.—The work of arrest is proceeding with great care and thoroughness. A deputy in command of the marshals, drivers, teamsters and special strike, and the troops seize him. Many of the union men remain here, and there are few known to be in this vicinity. The canyon has been secured, and only one man was found. Scouts report the presence of armed horsemen in the canyon, but there have been no outbreaks to show their whereabouts.

The exodus of strikers is taking place by way of Glidden's Pass to Thompson Falls. The strikers are thick on the mountains around Mullan, and their numbers will be seen by the soldiers.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 19.—The government has received an official report of the seizure of the sealers' supply steamer Coquillan, in Alaskan waters, by the United States revenue cutter Corwin. The report, which was forwarded to the minister of marine and fisheries, states that the vessel transposed goods within the tonnage limit, but as no such limit of jurisdiction is recognized by international law, it is expected that the government will strongly oppose that United States contention.

YATES, F. A.—The miners of the Sevier county Saturday last, the news of which reached this city only Monday. Thomas Reid shot and killed Robert Lewis, 21, and over 100 carmen, and the man's head potted in Lewis' field, a double-barrel shotgun was used, and the man's head was almost blown from his body. Reid is in jail at Sevierville, and passengers coming down on the steamer Monday night say that there was talk of lynching. The dead man leaves a young family. Each man was a farmer, and the miners are thick on the mountains around Mullan, and their numbers will be seen by the soldiers.
